

Everything's possible

MALO CLINIC continues to change lives and deliver happiness, giving a new smile to people like Filomena, a woman who for long thought she was never going to be able to smile with confidence again due to serious dental problems. Learn more about her story...

Filomena Alberto, 46, is married and has 3 children. Her dental problems arose at an early age and got worse with the medication she had to take and with her various pregnancies. She suffered deeply when she looked at her image in the mirror, and she felt embarrassed when she had to interact with people who did not know her. Four years ago she had spent her savings in an implant treatment that, unfortunately, was done poorly and for about a year now she was using nothing to hide her lack of teeth, which caused her great psychological suffering. Now she feels much better and she says she has "rolled back the years".
